

1. Place tie around your neck
2. The thin end of the tie should end at your belt
3. Take the fat end of the tie and cross it over the thin end of the tie
4. Then cross the fat end of the tie back behind the thin end
5. After that take the fat end of the tie and pass it through the hole around your neck you should have created from the previous steps
6. Then pass the fat end of the tie in front of the section of thin tie where the fat end is overlapping, make sure to leave a loop there you just pass the fat end over the thin end
7. Take the fat end of the tie and pass it up through the hole around your neck
8. Place the fat end of the tie through the loop you left in step 6
9. Pull the fat end until the knot is tight
10. Pull the thin end until the tie is comfortably around your neck